

Basic Personal Amounts by Province, 2022

Overview

This bar chart shows the Basic Personal Amounts (BPA) by province in 2022. All of the bars in the chart are red, except for Manitoba, which is in yellow, highlighting the fact that the BPA amount for this province is the third lowest in Canada, behind only Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and Labrador.

Values

Province	BPA
NS*	$8,481
NL	$9,804
MB	$10,145
PE	$11,250
NB	$10,817
ON	$11,141
BC	$11,302
FED	$14,398
QC	$16,143
SK	$16,615
AB	$19,369

Presentation

On the x axis of the chart, we can see different provinces under their corresponding bar and on the y axis, we can see the dollar amounts. Each bar shows the corresponding BPA value for that province.

*Additional notes for Nova Scotia

Individuals in Nova Scotia with an income of $25,000 or less can claim $11,481, comprising the BPA of $8,481 plus an additional amount of $3,000. Individuals earning more than $75,000 can claim $8,481. Those earning between $25,000 and $75,000 can calculate a partial claim for the $3,000 additional amount based on a sliding scale. Sources: Government of Canada, Canada Revenue Agency. Current Year T4032 Payroll Deductions Tables, 2022. Government of Quebec, Revenu Quebec. Principal Changes, Personal Tax Credit Amounts, 2022.